DOUGIE FREEDMAN

THE MANAGER

Good afternoon and a warm welcome to you all. I'd like to extend that welcome to David Moyes and the players, staff and fans of Everton as well as today's match sponsors Key Financial Claims Ltd.

We are all looking forward to today's game. I feel we thoroughly deserve our place in the fourth round after an excellent performance away at Sunderland. The display over the two games more than merited the win. We dealt well with the quality in the Sunderland side and our play was controlled and purposeful.

We come into this game on the back of another strong away showing at Crystal Palace. On another day we could have easily taken all three points. We faced a side full of confidence and we dealt with them well.

In facing Premier League opposition, today is another reminder of what we are missing out on. David Moyes has assembled an excellent squad which is performing strongly in the league. We know it will be another testing challenge. Everton were beaten semi-finalists in this competition last season and, like ourselves, they want another good cup run.

With games coming thick and fast, we plan to make full use of our squad. We will do that again today. I have been delighted by the response of all our players. They are getting used to my way of working and buying in to that on the training ground.

I firmly believe that in the modern game you have to utilise every area of your club - from the fitness and medical teams through to the analysis departments - everyone working in preparation for matchdays.

Within that I am keen to work with young players. Josh Vela and Joe Riley have both featured in my league and cup squads and I have been pleased with their attitude, desire and commitment.

I want players with a real hunger and passion to play for this club. I won't be adding to my squad in the transfer window simply because I can. The players who join us have to be absolutely right. They have to have the character and they have to want to come to Bolton Wanderers.

I have a responsibility to the club and the fans which I take seriously and those principles will always guide any activity in the transfer market.

Thanks for coming today and for your continued support.

KEVIN DAVIES

First of all, on behalf of all the boys, I'd like to say a big thank you to all of the fans who have travelled to our last two away games in some terrible weather conditions. As always they made themselves heard and played their part in helping us get a couple of really positive results.

We were all delighted with the result at Sunderland. They are a very strong team and for us to go to their place and play the way we did was very pleasing. We then followed that up with another clean sheet against an in-form Crystal Palace side.

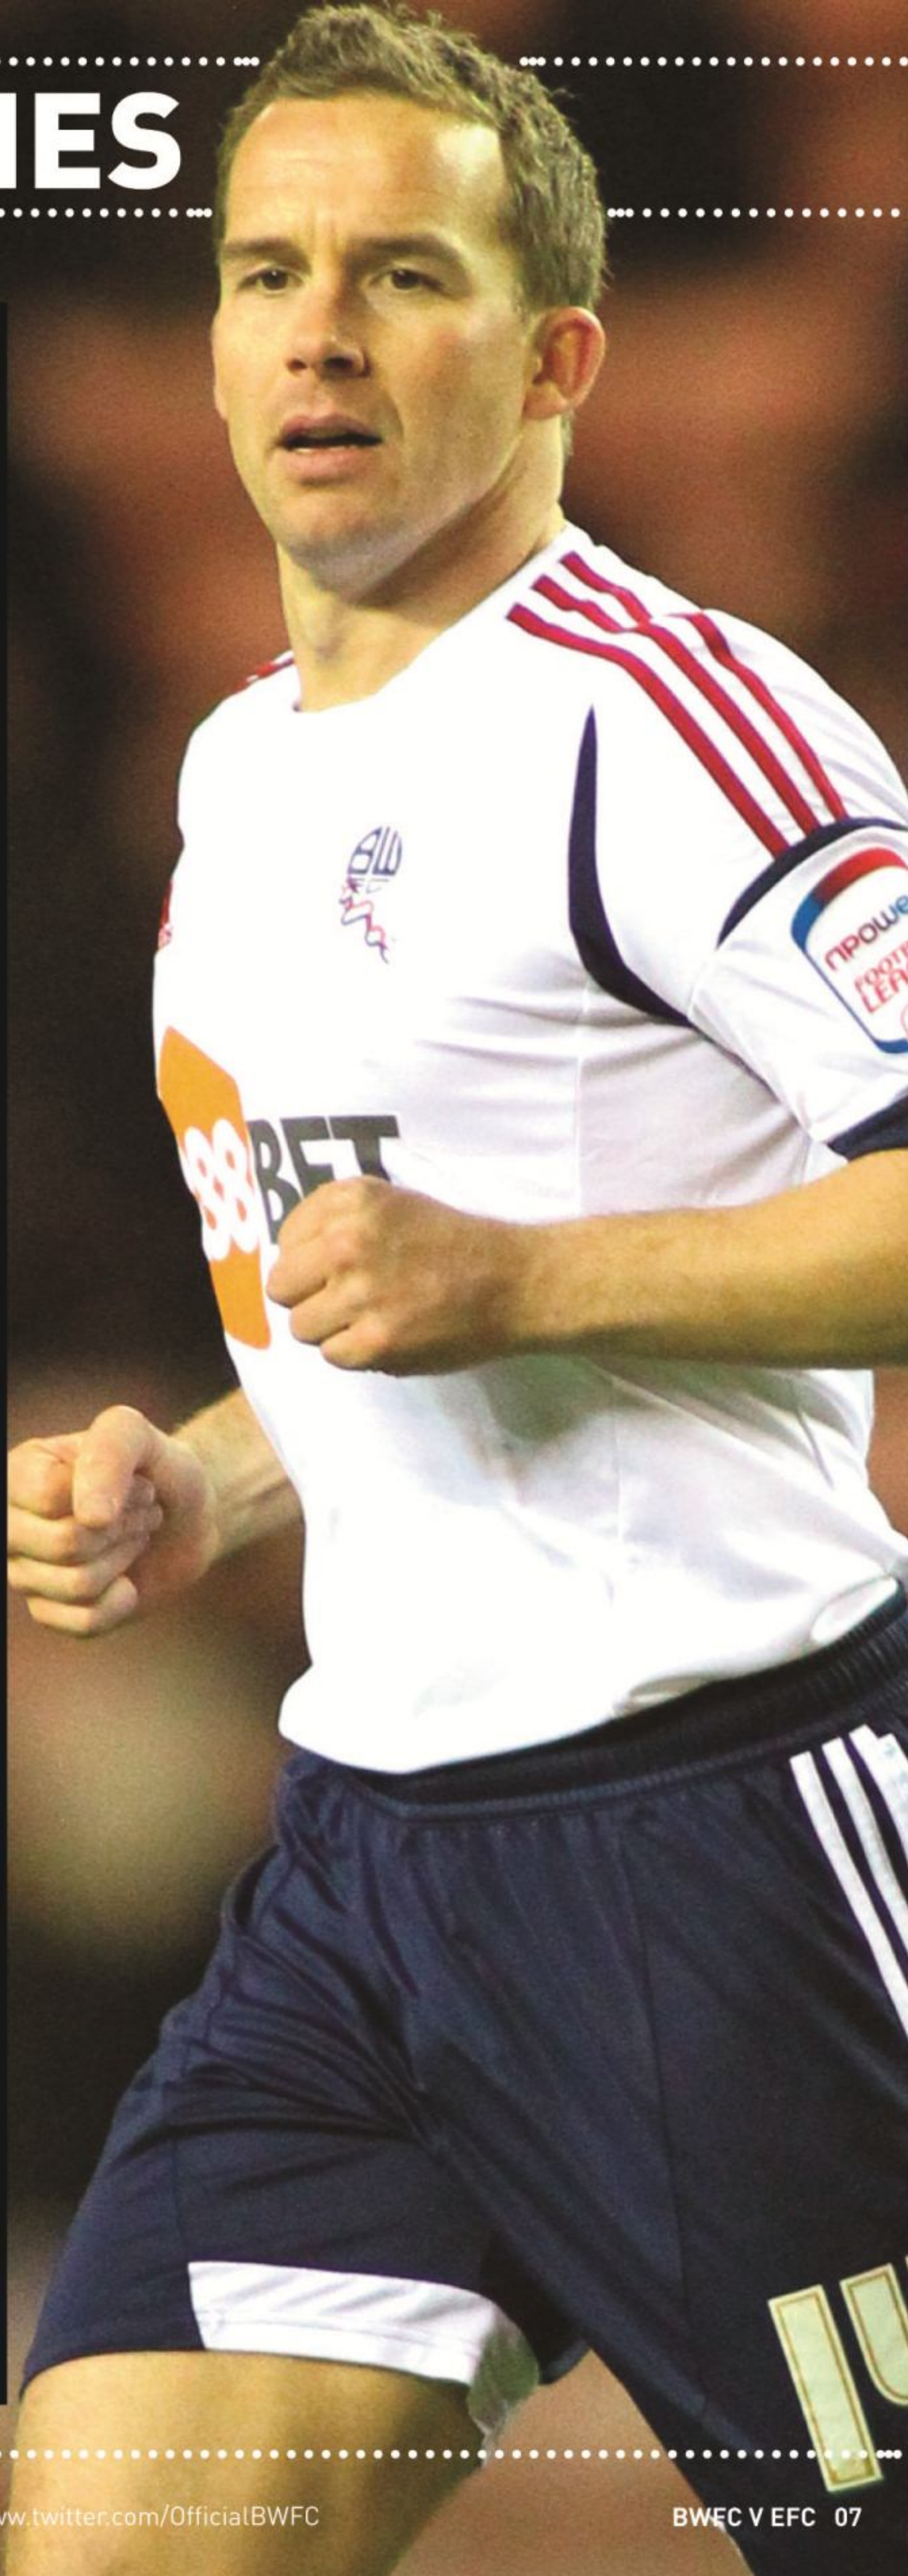

We've all been working very hard as a team to not only keep more clean sheets, but to limit the amount of chances that our goalkeepers have to face. I think that we can see we're making good progress on that front.

Our reward for the great result at Sunderland is a home tie against Everton this afternoon. They are a terrific side and are once again having a superb season under David Moyes.

I spent some time playing golf with David when I was on holiday last year – he's a great guy and continues to do an amazing job at Everton. I will of course wish him all the best for the rest of the season after today's game, as we want another good cup run for ourselves.

We know that a return to the Premier League is our priority, but it is great to still be involved in this magical cup competition. Throughout my career it has provided me with some memorable moments – and a lot of heartache as we all know!

Get behind the boys today and enjoy the game. Who knows what could happen? We're all desperate to be in the hat for the next round and we'll do all we can to make that happen.

VELA VYING FOR FIRST TEAM ACTION

Salford-born academy product shows that you don't have to look too far when recruiting top talent.

Josh Vela is proof of the good work being done behind the scenes at Wanderers' thriving academy.

The midfielder has progressed through the club's ranks and into the development squad, before making his first team debut in April 2012.

He entered the action as a substitute in the closing stages of a home Premier League clash against Swansea City and impressed enough to earn himself more time on the pitch at the back end of the previous campaign.

Having been given his initial break under Owen Coyle, Vela's target is to now impress his new manager and push for a regular spot in the Trotters' starting 11.

Speaking to the official matchday programme, he told us about his first steps in the game, his rise through the Whites' youth teams and his hopes for the future.

He also revealed that he first caught the eye playing in a slightly more adventurous role to the one Wanderers fans are now used to seeing him.

"I was just playing for my local team, Swinton Boys, when a Bolton scout spotted me. I got invited to attend trials and that went well for me so I started playing in the under-9s," Vela explained.

"I actually started out as a striker and occasionally played on the wing, but as I developed I've moved further back – probably because I didn't score enough goals!

"By the time I was playing at under-12 level I'd been converted into a midfielder and the change in position meant that I had to adapt my game a lot. Before I was just running forward, but the switch to midfield meant that I had to start thinking about tracking back too.

"At first I wasn't used to sitting deeper and tackling, but I gradually got into it and it began to feel natural. Also a lot of the players that I admired when I was younger were midfielders. The likes of Steven Gerrard and Paul Scholes were the main guys that I would try to emulate.

"I love the way Gerrard bombs forward, but the way I play is a bit different because I see myself as more of a holding midfield player; I like to win the ball and start moves off."

At the tender age of 17, Vela penned his first Wanderers contract, and it is something he reflects on with great fondness. He recalled: "I signed my first pro contract in March 2011 and that was obviously a great moment for me.

"There was a reserve game against Wigan that Owen Coyle went to and apparently he was impressed and wanted to offer me a professional deal. I felt I played really well in that game, but obviously you don't expect to hear news like that.

"The following week Jimmy Phillips pulled me over and told me that the manager wanted to speak to me. I went to see him in his office, he put the contract in front of me and obviously you're not going to turn that down!

"After getting that two-year contract, I broke my ankle and I was obviously a little bit concerned about what might happen. But the club showed a lot of faith in me and offered me a new three-year deal in February last year. That really gave me a huge boost."

Vela recovered from his broken ankle to make his first forays into the Whites' first team. But in a League Cup tie at Crawley at the start of this season, he found himself out of the side again through no fault of his own.

Just six minutes into his first full start for the club, he was caught by a late challenge and picked up a knee injury which would leave him sidelined for just over four months. He said: "To do my knee against Crawley at the start of this season was so frustrating because of the work I'd put in to get to that point.

"I started out as a striker but moved further back – probably because I didn't score enough goals!"

"The physical pain wasn't actually too bad but, given that I was so desperate to play that game and impress people, it was mentally draining. To be told I was starting was such a good feeling and I'd built myself up to that moment. So I was absolutely gutted to leave the field after about five minutes.

"I controlled the ball on my chest, took it round their player and he just clipped my heel as I run past. My knee locked out and the ligament snapped.

"Being ruled out meant that I had to stay mentally strong. My dad was a massive help and kept me positive throughout the four months. I knew that I just had to keep going, come into training every day and try to strengthen my legs as much as possible. People told me that my knee would be stronger than it was before I had the injury, so that was a good way to look at it.

"For the first four weeks I couldn't move it at all. I was stuck in a leg brace and couldn't bend it. That was tough because I literally couldn't do anything. As soon as I was able to move it, I was back on the bike to try and build my fitness back up.

"As well as the bike I worked really hard and did a lot of leg weights and various other exercises to strengthen the knee. I found it a bit boring at first, but I just thought about how important the work was for me to get back to where I wanted to be.

"It's not ideal sitting around the house all day when all I want to be doing is be out training and trying to improve. I passed a lot of time just watching films and watching clips of the games I've played; that got me through.

"I like watching films in my spare time, but it's not what you want to be doing every day. It's the same as playing on the Xbox. You see yourself on FIFA and as a lad coming through the ranks and to see that you're on a computer game is pretty cool, but when you're doing nothing but playing that the novelty wears off."

Having worked hard to get himself back in contention, Vela's comeback came in a development squad fixture against Oldham at the beginning of this month, and he was understandably delighted to be back on the pitch.

"I made my return for the development squad earlier this month and after that game I felt really good," he said. "I was just happy to get on the pitch again, run about, get on the ball and go in for tackles; that's what I'd missed.

"When the first 50/50 did come along I was a little bit nervous because I was just thinking to myself, 'this is the one!'

"It was nice to play alongside Stuart (Holden) because, as everyone knows, he is a top player. The gaffer was there too, so I was out to impress him in particular. I spoke to the manager after that game and he said that he was happy with how I did, so that was another positive.

"When the change of manager was made, I felt that I had to make a good first impression and to do that as quickly as possible. The gaffer was great and when I was doing some physio work he came over and spoke to me and said that he'd heard a lot of good things about me. That put me at ease and was a big boost to my confidence."

Vela then went on to start last week's FA Cup third round replay at Sunderland, playing 74 minutes, and he was quickly reminded of the differences between the speed of the game in the reserves and the first team.

He said: "Although it was great to be back playing in the development squad, the game is played at a much slower tempo and you can take three or four touches.

"In the first team you have much less time and you know you have to control the ball and then move it on as quickly as possible. You also have to take much greater care when you have possession in competitive games because it's often the case that you get punished if you make a mistake.

"I got a bit of playing time in the Premier League and there's not the same pressure when you're on the ball because teams are happy to sit back a little bit more. In the Championship teams are constantly putting pressure on you and closing you down all over the pitch. Some of the tackles are very strong but I'll relish that because I love a battle and I like to get stuck in."

Those battling qualities are sure to endear Vela to the Wanderers faithful and his target is now to impress those fans on a regular basis by getting back into the first team.

He said: "Looking forward, I'd like to be getting in the squad in the second half of this season. Obviously I'd love to start, but if I can be on the bench and get as many minutes as possible I'll be happy with that as long as it helps the team.

"I've never been out on loan because my desire has always been to play here at Bolton. It's not something I'd rule out because I want to play games, but if I can be getting in the squad here I'll definitely stay and fight for a place in the side.

"So far the manager has played with two holding midfield players and that is something that I really like. We've got some great midfielders in our squad and a lot of experience too. I've learned a lot from the likes of Keith Andrews and Jay Spearing and that can only help me going forward."

Bolton had reached the fourth round of the FA Cup after beating First Division side Stoke City 3-2 in round three, courtesy of a fantastic John Byrom hat-trick in front of a bumper crowd of 40,000 supporters at Burnden Park.

The reward for Wanderers was a tough trip to another top flight team in the shape of Southampton. Although Bolton were only mid-table in Division Two at the time, Jimmy Armfield's side were beginning to find a bit of form and more than a 1,000 fans made the long trip south to cheer on the Whites.

A railway dispute the Friday before the game left 500 fans without a means of transport. So to ensure that nobody missed the game, a rescue mission was put into action which saw several extra coached laid on for those travelling to Hampshire.

The rain began to pour as the cup tie kicked off, and moods were dampened further when Southampton took the lead through Hugh Fisher. Lawrie McMenemy's side, after a flurry of attacks, doubled their advantage just before the break when the young Mick Channon fired home to make it 2-0. Wanderers had just not got to grips with the conditions at The Dell, as the Saints dominated the early exchanges.

The heavy rain, which had only started just before kick-off, had turned the pitch into a mud heap. As the game wore on, Wanderers were being forced more and more onto the back foot, and with just 15 minutes left the hosts appeared to have had the tie won.

However, the Whites hopes were revived when John Byrom pulled a goal back in the 79th minute, his 100th goal for the club. But again it looked to be all over for Bolton when Bobby Stokes made it 3-1.

But there was to be a frantic finish and the game exploded a minute later Bolton were awarded a penalty, after John Ritson was fouled in the box.

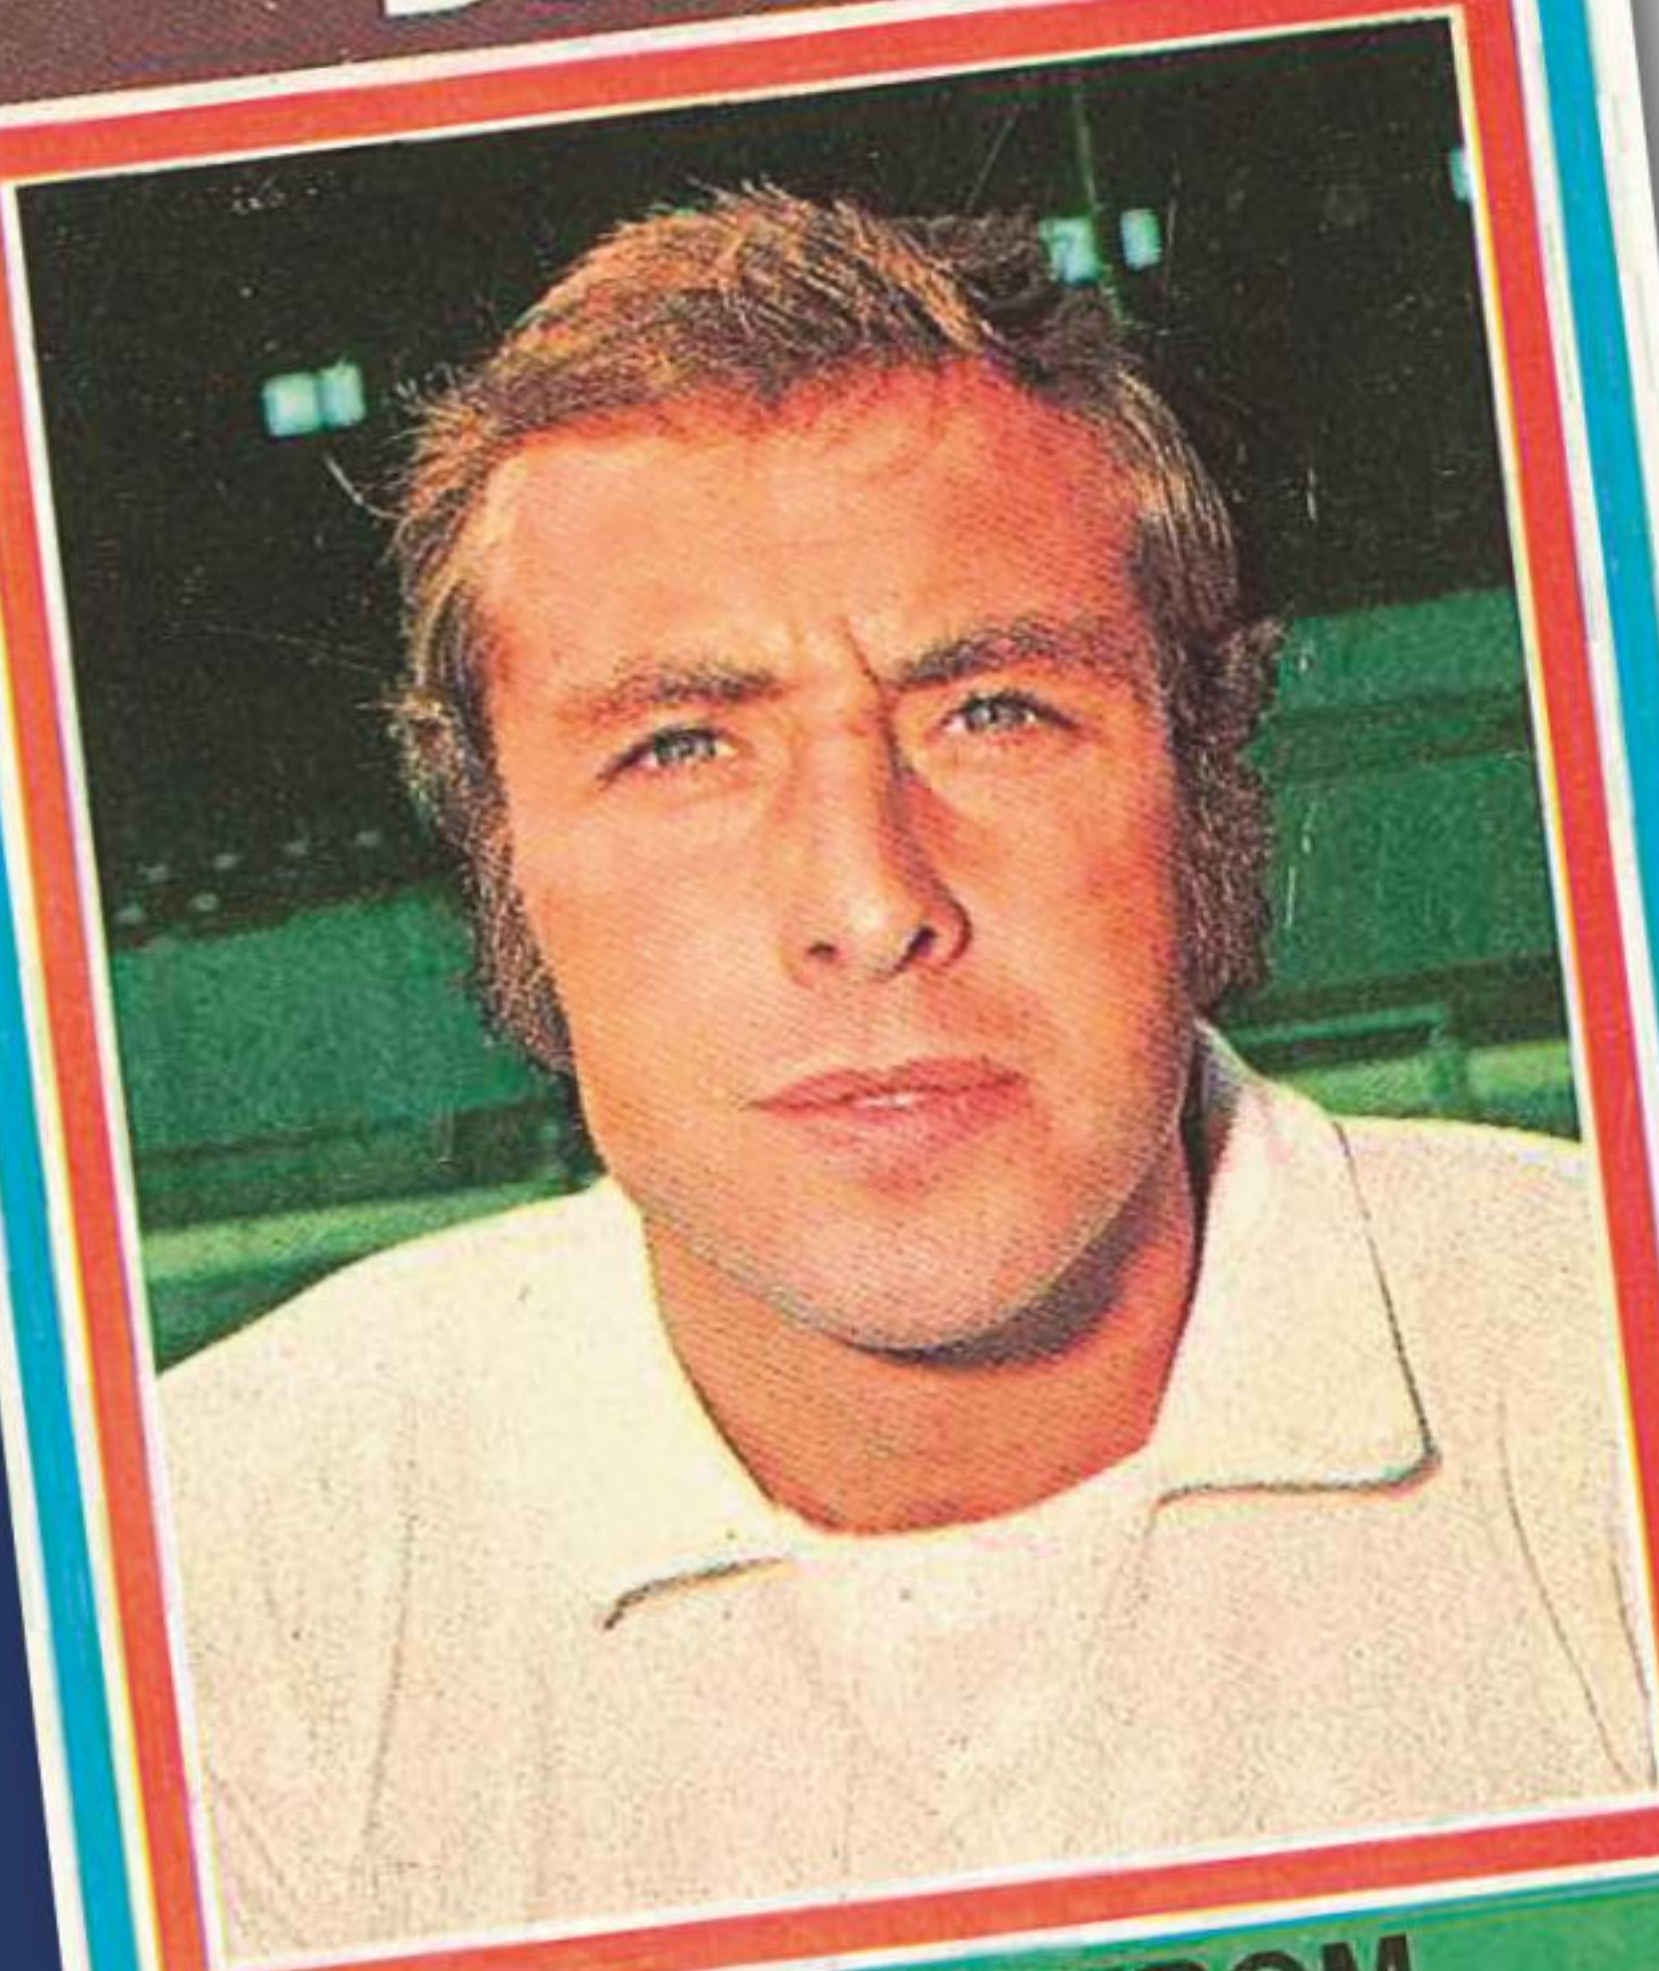

Garry Jones crashed the ball home in the 86th minute, only for the referee to order a retake. But the ever-reliable Jones slotted the ball home for a second time.

The goal revived the tired limbs of the Bolton players and in the 88th minute Byrom scored the equaliser in stunning fashion. He picked up the ball just inside the Southampton half and raced clear, dragging the ball through the mud into the penalty area and out-sprinting the chasing defenders before putting a rasping shot past the diving keeper Martin (above).

With only two minutes to go a draw seemed a certainty, but eight minutes of injury time was added. The result was a reward for the Bolton players' character and never-say-die attitude after the game had twice appeared to have slipped beyond their grasp.

John Byrom's equaliser is a goal that is still remembered and talked about by former managers, players and supporters alike.

Reading 0 - 2 Wanderers

Strikes from Tom Youngs and Chris Lester ensured Wanderers' under-18s progressed to the fifth round of the FA Youth Cup after a fine win over ten-man Reading at the Madejski Stadium.

David Lee and Tony Kelly's side will now travel to White Hart Lane to take on Tottenham Hotspur in the fifth round.

Bolton went ahead in the 19th minute when Youngs hit a deflected shot that Royals keeper Dan Lincoln could only watch loop over him and into the top corner.

Reading had a chance to score from the spot after 26 minutes, when Tarique Fosu was fouled in the area. After a short delay due to a Bolton injury, Fosu stepped up to take the penalty but saw his effort pushed away by Wanderers keeper Jan-Ole Sievers.

Ten minutes into the second half, the hosts were reduced to ten men, when Aaron Kuhl received a second yellow card for bringing down Youngs.

And with eight minutes left on the clock, the Wanderers youngsters secured their place in the fifth round when winger Lester made his way down the left-hand side before slotting past Lincoln.

LEE: A DESERVED VICTORY

Speaking after the game, academy head coach David Lee said: "The boys battled really hard throughout the game and finished it stronger than the opposition.

We fought well against a big, strong physical team and matched them as well as trying to keep a well-disciplined shape.

"Their professionalism was excellent, combined with the desire and work ethic. Travelling on the day before the game allowed us to prepare mentally, physically and tactically for what was a big occasion for the boys.

"We had a game plan and our team structure worked for the boys. We forced them into errors and that's when we started to get on top of the game."

DYLAN WOLSTENHOLME

YOUNG SCHOLAR HOPING TO MAKE A LASTING IMPRESSION

WORDS: EMMA NORRIS

Making the right first impression is important in all aspects of life and for second year scholar Dylan Wolstenholme, he could not have made a better one when it came to proving his worth to the Trotters.

Having started his playing career at the age of 9 with his local Sunday league team Moston Juniors, the midfielder scored a hat-trick for his side under the watching eye of a Bolton scout – a moment that he remembers fondly.

“I had a great game, and afterwards the scout came up to my mum, handed her his card and said that he’d like to invite me to a trial,” Wolstenholme revealed.

“I came for six weeks and at the end of it they offered me a place in the academy which was fantastic – it’s what every boy dreams of.”

Despite attracting interest from a number of other teams, he joined Bolton as a 13-year-old and hasn’t looked back since, developing a reputation as a creative central midfielder with a never-say-die attitude.

After settling into life in Wanderers’ academy, Wolstenholme impressed enough to be handed a scholarship three years later – a dream come true for the youngster.

“I’d just come out of training and both me and my mum got a text asking us to come to the Reebok for a meeting,” he explained.

“Neither of us knew what it was for, but as soon as we got there David Lee and Jimmy Phillips sat us down and told me I was getting my scholarship. I was over the moon.”

Now in his sixth year with the Whites, Wolstenholme firmly believes that he wouldn’t be where he is today without the help and advice he has received from the club’s coaching staff.

“They are really good coaches,” he enthused. “I don’t think there are many better out there, which is brilliant for us.”

Currently plying his trade with Wanderers’ development squad, the 18-year-old is confident that his experiences within Jamie Fullarton’s side will stand him in good stead as he aims to secure a professional contract.

“Physically the games are more difficult; we’re regularly coming up against experienced players which is great for our development.

“I think the toughest opponent I’ve played against has been West Ham’s Alou Diarra who played for France in the World Cup. He was really strong, but it was a good test for me.”

Having pitted his wits against a number of seasoned professionals, Wolstenholme has also recently played at a number of Premier League grounds such as the Emirates and Upton Park – a factor that has fuelled his desire to succeed.

“At the moment I’m just focusing on getting as much experience as I can, but my aims are to push on and get into the first team,” he confessed.

“It is really inspiring to see players like Josh Vela and Joe Riley making that breakthrough, so hopefully I will be joining them soon.”

TOP TENS Cup Upsets

WORDS: MARK HEYS

Having beaten Sunderland in the FA Cup third round replay at the Stadium of Light earlier this month, Wanderers' reward is a home tie against Premier League side Everton, and the visit of David Moyes' side gives Dougie Freedman another chance to pit his wits against top flight opposition.

The Whites have had their fair share of cup upsets down the years, and in this issue, we take a look at Bolton teams from the past who have emerged victorious against the odds, starting with the 1993/94 season when today's opponents Everton came unstuck against Bruce Rioch's Wanderers.

EVERTON - JANUARY 1994

With the original tie at Burnden Park ending in a 1-1 draw, it looked as though Wanderers' chance of an upset had passed them by. Everton's Stuart Barlow scored either side of the interval in the replay at Goodison Park to give the hosts a two-goal lead. But the Trotters found that extra fighting spirit as John McGinlay's volley deflected past Neville Southall to reduce the arrears before Alan Stubbs' strike sent the tie into extra-time. The comeback was complete when Owen Coyle curled the ball round Southall for the winner.

ARSENAL - FEBRUARY 1994

Bolton emerged victorious in a replay against holders Arsenal at Highbury in February 1994. McGinlay kept up his record of scoring against top flight teams with a first-half header, but veteran Gunners frontman Alan Smith reacted quickest to a goalmouth scramble to level the tie. In extra-time, Jason McAteer, a scorer for Wanderers in the original tie, blasted home. Andy Walker, returning from a long-term injury, then scored his first goal in ten months to seal the win. The margin of victory would have been greater, but referee Gerald Ashby ordered a retake of Tony Kelly's late free-kick, with the initial effort finding the top corner.

ASTON VILLA - FEBRUARY 1994

Later that month, Wanderers' cup exploits continued as they welcomed Ron Atkinson's Aston Villa to Burnden Park. This time there was no need for a replay, but the Wanderers faithful were made to wait until the last ten minutes for the goal that would seal the tie. With the score stuck at 0-0, Alan Stubbs (right) blasted in a powerful free-kick which goalkeeper Mark Bosnich stood little chance of saving. Stubbs and Tony Kelly both had earlier efforts saved by Bosnich, but there was nothing the Australian stopper could do about the winning goal.

CHELSEA - OCTOBER 1996

Scott Minto's chip over the head of Wanderers keeper Keith Branagan gave Chelsea the lead in a matter of seconds in their League Cup tie at Burnden Park, but the Division One leaders responded well against their opponents from the capital. John McGinlay levelled the scores before ex-Stamford Bridge trainee Nathan Blake got the faintest of touches to guide the ball past Kevin Hitchcock just before the break. The joy of Wanderers' progression was overshadowed when it was announced the morning after that Chelsea director Matthew Harding and four others had been killed in a helicopter crash travelling back from the game.

TOTTENHAM HOTSPUR - NOVEMBER 1996

If beating the likes of Ruud Gullit, Roberto di Matteo and Frank Leboeuf wasn't enough, Wanderers went a step further in the following round of the League Cup with a six-goal demolition of Tottenham Hotspur. Colin Todd's side set the tone early on when John McGinlay turned home Gerry Taggart's flick-on. The Whites' top scorer added a second later on in the half to nudge Bruce Rioch's side back in front after Teddy Sheringham had drawn Spurs level. Taggart himself got on the score sheet with a header, before McGinlay clinched his hat-trick. Nathan Blake and substitute Scott Taylor completed the rout.

SOUTHAMPTON - FEBRUARY 1992

In the latter days of Phil Neal's reign, Southampton came to Burnden Park for a fifth round FA Cup tie which presented Wanderers with the opportunity to advance to the quarter-final stage of the competition for the first time in 33 years. Defender Richard Hall put Saints in the ascendancy with an unlikely brace and future Wanderer David Lee looked to have silenced the capacity Burnden crowd with a third for the visitors, only for the effort to be ruled out. The on-loan Andy Walker brought Wanderers back in it with his sixth goal in eight since arriving from Celtic and Scott Green sent the tie to a replay at The Dell when he fired past Tim Flowers late on.

NEWCASTLE UNITED - FEBRUARY 1976

A crowd of over 45,000 Whites fans attended Burnden Park in February 1976 to see an enthralling FA Cup tie between Wanderers and Newcastle United. Sam Allardyce converted Peter Thompson's cross to open the scoring, but England striker Malcolm Macdonald brought the Magpies level. Macdonald then scored a goal of the season contender when he hit a volley on the turn past Bolton's Barry Siddall, but Garry Jones equalised for Wanderers soon after. Alan Gowling scored against his future employers to put Newcastle back on top but Paul Jones took the tie back to St James' Park when rising well to connect with Roy Greaves' corner.

LIVERPOOL - SEPTEMBER 1967

Just before the world-famous Anfield boot room began to take shape, Wanderers defeated Liverpool in a League Cup replay at Burnden Park. Gordon Taylor scored a brace and Freddie Hill (right) netted the other on a night where not even goals from hardman Tommy Smith or Reds great Ian Callaghan could topple Bill Ridding's young side.

SHEFFIELD UNITED - FEBRUARY 1890

Not so much a cup shock, but Wanderers' biggest ever FA Cup win came against Sheffield United in February 1890. The vidi-printer would go in overdrive these days at the prospect of such a score, as Bolton secured a 13-0 win. James Cassidy helped himself to five goals, Davie Weir four, James Brogan got a hat-trick and Bethel Robinson completed the scoring.

LIVERPOOL - JANUARY 1993

Cup holders Liverpool were comprehensively beaten in a replay at Anfield against a Bolton side that were chasing promotion to the second tier. Wanderers winger David Lee had tormented his marker Mike Marsh all evening, and it was his cross which set up John McGinlay to head in the opener past goalkeeper Mike Hooper. McGinlay turned provider in the second half, when he sent over a delightful cross for strike partner Andy Walker to nod home.

OPPOSITION SUMMARY

Perennial slow starters Everton finally seem to have bucked the trend of having a poor first half to their league campaign with David Moyes' side occupying a place in the top five for the majority of the current season.

Victory over Manchester United in their first league match was followed up with impressive away victories against Aston Villa and Swansea City as the Toffees look to launch a serious charge on the Premier League's top four.

Draws against Manchester City and Arsenal preceded wins over Tottenham, West Ham and Wigan in December as Everton ended the year with only three league defeats to their name.

They started 2013 with a 2-1 victory away at Newcastle before thumping Cheltenham Town 5-1 in the FA Cup third round to set up today's fixture.

Visiting View

Steve Jones, Editor of the award winning fan site bluekipper.com, has been hugely impressed with Everton's season thus far and is confident that the club can finish in the European places.

He said: "So far, Everton have been top drawer. We have been in the top six all season and look in good shape to qualify for Europe. The football we have played has been breathtaking at times. We've drawn 11 games and if we could have turned a few of them into wins, we would be challenging for the top spots."

The Toffees have reached the FA Cup semi finals twice in the past four seasons, but they have not lifted a trophy since 1995, a statistic that Jones would love to change this season.

He said: "We have been to Wembley three times in recent seasons in the FA Cup. Another trip this season would be fantastic although obviously I'd love us to go on to win it this time.

But I wouldn't say no to a Champions League spot, travelling around Europe to watch Everton is great as we found out in the Europa League.

Jones expects a tough encounter at the Reebok Stadium, but he is confident that the Blues can progress and continue their march towards another Wembley fixture.

He said: "I expect a hard game against Bolton, but expect to win the game 3-1."

THE MANAGER

DAVID MOYES

Born: Glasgow, Scotland

Date of Birth: 25/04/1963

After over 10 years in charge of the club, David Moyes has transformed Everton from relegation battlers to regular European contenders.

He has only failed to finish in the top half of the table twice since taking over, and looks on course to achieve another impressive league performance this term.

The former Preston North End boss, who is currently the third longest serving manager in English football, has constantly had to operate on a tight budget, making his achievements all the more impressive.

The Glaswegian, who takes charge of his 500th Everton fixture today, has led the Toffees into Europe on four occasions, as well as reaching the FA Cup final in 2009 where his side were eventually beaten by Guus Hiddink's Chelsea at Wembley.

THE STAR MAN

MAROUANE FELLAINI

Born: Etterbeek, Belgium

Date of Birth: 22/11/1987

Position: Midfielder

Signed From: Standard Liege (2008)

Belgian international Marouane Fellaini is now in his fifth season with the Toffees after joining from Standard Liege in 2008, when he became Everton's record signing.

The 25-year-old scored nine goals in his debut season at Everton but injuries and suspensions halted his progress as he missed large parts of the 2009/10 and 2010/11 campaigns.

Fellaini's performances this season have attracted the attention of several clubs, but he is contracted to the Toffees until June 2015. The Goodison faithful will now be hoping the midfielder can replicate his early season form in the latter half of the campaign.

THE ONE TO WATCH

STEVEN PIENAAR

Born: Johannesburg, South Africa

Date of Birth: 07/09/1981

Position: Midfielder

Signed From: Tottenham Hotspur (2012)

Now in his second spell with the club, South African international Steven Pienaar has formed a devastating partnership with left-back Leighton Baines and is one of the club's most dangerous attacking threats.

Pienaar joined the Toffees on a season-long loan from German outfit Borussia Dortmund in 2007 before signing permanently in 2008, having impressed for the Blues.

The 31-year-old left Goodison Park in 2011 to join Tottenham, but the former Ajax man was largely used as a substitute. He returned to David Moyes' side on loan in January 2012 and made the move permanent in the summer transfer window.

PLAYER PROFILES

TIM HOWARD

Nationality: American

Date of Birth: 06/03/1979

Position: Goalkeeper

Former Manchester United goalkeeper Tim Howard has been Everton's first choice between the sticks since joining from the Red Devils in 2006. In August 2012, the American international set a new record after making his 184th consecutive Premier League appearance with the same club. The shot stopper has even been on the scoresheet for his current employers, scoring in last season's 2-1 home defeat to Bolton.

LEIGHTON BAINES

Nationality: English

Date of Birth: 11/12/1984

Position: Defender

England international Leighton Baines is now in his sixth season at Goodison

Park after signing from Wigan Athletic in 2007. After a slow start, the Kirkby-born left back has flourished with Everton and has become one of the most consistent full-backs in European football. The defender won the 2010/11 Player, Players' Player and Goal of the Season awards and a year later was named in the PFA Team of the Year.

PHIL JAGIELKA

Nationality: English

Date of Birth: 17/08/1982

Position: Defender

Sale-born defender Phil Jagielka has had a huge impact at Everton since joining from Sheffield United in 2007 for £4m. The 30-year-old has been a model of consistency for the Blues and his performances have earned him international recognition with several call-ups. He made his England debut as a substitute in a 3-0 win over Trinidad and Tobago, before making his first start for the Three Lions in a 2-0 defeat to European Champions Spain in February 2009.

SYLVAIN DISTIN

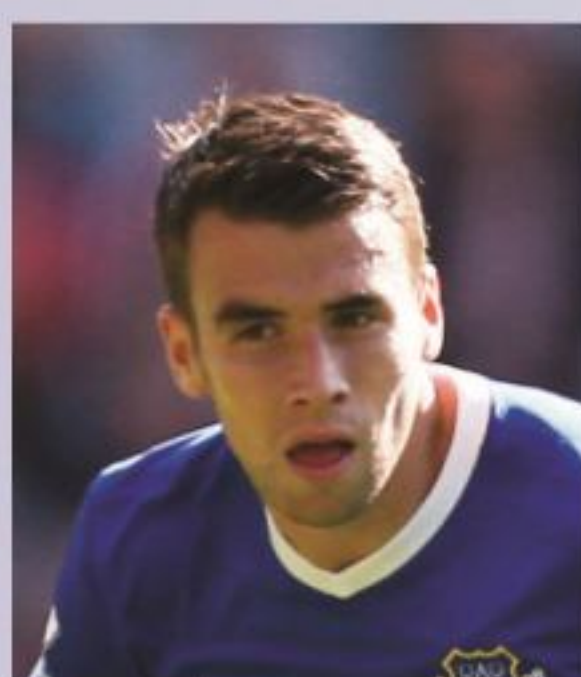

Nationality: French

Date of Birth: 16/12/1977

Position: Defender

35-year-old centre back Sylvain Distin made his Everton debut in a 2-1 home win over Wigan Athletic in 2009 and the Frenchman has gone on to form a strong partnership with Jagielka in the heart of the Blues' defence. Distin started his career with French giants Paris Saint-Germain before moving to England where he had spells with Newcastle United, Manchester City and Portsmouth.

SEAMUS COLEMAN

Nationality: Ireland

Date of Birth: 11/10/1988

Position: Defender

Donegal-born wing back Seamus Coleman joined Everton from Sligo Rovers in January 2009 as something of an unknown quantity, but the youngster has become a favourite of the fans at Goodison. Coleman helped Blackpool to promotion to the Premier League in 2010 while on loan with the Tangerines, after which he returned to the Toffees, where his impressive displays were rewarded with a new five-and-a-half year contract in December 2012.

PHIL NEVILLE

Nationality: English

Date of Birth: 21/07/1977

Position: Defender

Club captain Phil Neville has been at the heart of Everton's success over the last seven-and-a-half seasons. He joined from Manchester United in 2005, having made 299 appearances for the Red Devils. The former England international skippered the Blues in the FA Cup final at Wembley in 2009 and has made almost 300 appearances for David Moyes' side.

JOHN HEITINGA

Nationality: Dutch

Date of Birth: 15/11/1983

Position: Defender

World Cup finalist John Heitinga has made over 100 appearances for the Toffees since joining from Spanish side Atletico Madrid in 2009. The Dutchman has won over 80 caps for the Netherlands and was named Dutch Footballer of the Year in 2008. Heitinga continued his impressive form with Everton and he was named as the club's Player of the Year for the 2011/12 season as the Toffees finished in seventh place.

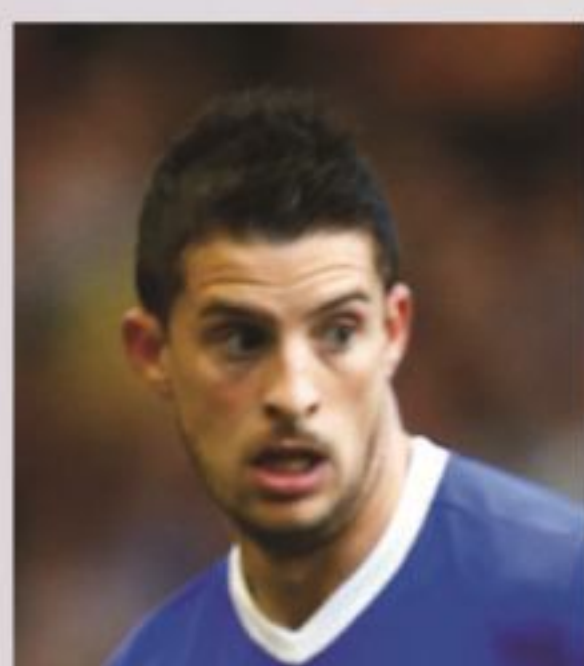

LEON OSMAN

Nationality: English

Date of Birth: 17/05/1981

Position: Midfielder

Wigan-born midfielder Leon Osman made his Everton debut against Tottenham over 10 years ago after progressing from the club's academy. Osman's performances have been at a consistently high level, and his efforts for the Toffees didn't go unnoticed as Roy Hodgson named the midfielder in his starting line-up for England's friendly against Sweden last year.

KEVIN MIRALLAS

Nationality: Belgian

Date of Birth: 05/10/1987

Position: Striker

Belgian international Kevin Mirallas signed for Everton from Greek champions Olympiakos in the 2012 summer transfer window, but injuries have restricted the forward to only 11 appearances. The 24-year-old scored twice on his full debut for the Blues in a 5-0 home win over Leyton Orient in the League Cup second round and, providing he can remain injury free, he could prove to be a dangerous weapon for David Moyes.

VICTOR ANICHEBE

Nationality: Nigerian

Date of Birth: 23/04/1988

Position: Striker

Nigerian Victor Anichebe made his Everton debut as a 17-year-old in an FA Cup tie against Chelsea, and he forged a reputation as a super sub after scoring four goals in the Blues' UEFA Cup run in the 2007/08 season. The powerful forward has had several long-term injuries during his career but he has returned to form in the current campaign and has five goals to his name this season.

NIKICA JELAVIC

Nationality: Croatian

Date of Birth: 27/08/1985

Position: Striker

Nikica Jelavic made the switch from Rangers to Everton in the January transfer window last year and he became an instant hit with the Goodison faithful. The Croatian international bagged 11 goals in just 13 starts to end the season as the club's top scorer, despite only making his first start for the club in March. The frontman has netted seven goals so far this term.

STEVEN NAISMITH

Nationality: Scottish

Date of Birth: 14/09/1986

Position: Striker

Everton snapped up Scotland international Steven Naismith on a free transfer from Rangers in the 2012 summer transfer window, and the forward made the perfect start as he scored a hat-trick on his debut in Tony Hibbert's testimonial game. Naismith scored his first league goal for the Toffees in the Merseyside derby in October and has gone on to find the target against both Norwich City and Reading.

O

THE GROUNDS

OLD TRAFFORD

Manchester United's 76,000 capacity stadium is currently the largest ground in the Premier League, with Wembley the only football arena in the country able to house more spectators. Despite being a notoriously difficult place to go, Wanderers secured consecutive victories in the 2001/02 and 2002/03 campaigns. Efforts from Kevin Nolan and Michael Ricketts sealed a 2-1 success for Sam Allardyce's side in their first season back in the top flight, and Nolan was at it again 12 months later, as his late strike earned a 1-0 win and back-to-back victories at the Theatre of Dreams.

OAKWELL

Wanderers are undefeated in their previous three visits to Barnsley. The Whites claimed all three points in their last trip to the 23,000 capacity stadium in April 2001, as a solitary strike from Michael Ricketts helped the Trotters to a 1-0 victory in their Division One clash. Bolton are due to travel to South Yorkshire on 13 April for their Championship clash, and manager Dougie Freedman will be hoping to extend their unbeaten run at the home of the Tykes.

OLYMPIC STADIUM ATHENS

Wanderers travelled to Greece for their final pre-season friendly ahead of the 2008/09 campaign, and took on AEK Athens in the Olympic Stadium. Despite a Jussi Jaaskelainen penalty save from former World Player of the Year Rivaldo, Gary Megson's side fell to a 1-0 defeat in the Greek capital. The venue originally opened in 1982 but underwent a major renovation project in order to prepare it for the 2004 Athens Olympics and both AEK and inter-city rivals Panathinaikos are tenants of the 75,000 capacity stadium.

O IS ALSO FOR...

OMAN

Former Wanderers stopper Ali Al-Habsi is the only Oman-born footballer to ply his trade in the Premier League. The keeper made 10 league appearances for the Trotters and featured in the UEFA Cup, most famously against German giants Bayern Munich, before moving to Wigan in 2011.

OVERHEAD KICK

There have been a few players to try overhead kicks in games played at the Reebok, but one of the most successful attempts came from Kevin Nolan against Portsmouth in 2005. With 25 minutes played, the midfielder superbly converted Kevin Davies' flick-on in a 1-0 win against the South Coast side.

THE PLAYERS

JAY-JAY OKOCHA

Bolton legend Jay-Jay Okocha enjoyed a highly-successful four-year spell at the Reebok, making over 125 appearances for the Whites and scoring 14 league goals. The Nigerian international quickly became a fan favourite after his arrival in 2002, with supporters printing shirts with the inscription 'Jay-Jay – so good they named him twice'. Okocha was named club captain in 2003 following Gudni Bergsson's retirement, and the skillful midfielder led the Whites to their first cup final in nine years when they finished runners-up in the 2004 League Cup.

JON OTSEMOTOR

Liverpool loanee Jon Otsemobor made just one appearance for Wanderers in 2004, as a brace from Robbie Fowler and a Simon Charlton own goal condemned Sam Allardyce's side to defeat against Manchester City. Otsemobor has since enjoyed spells at Norwich City, Southampton and Sheffield Wednesday, before the 29-year-old moved to Milton Keynes Dons in 2012. He scored the winning goal against bitter rivals AFC Wimbledon in the second round of this season's FA Cup.

JOEY O'BRIEN

Wanderers academy graduate Joey O'Brien made over 50 appearances for the Whites after receiving his first professional contract in 2004. The defender spent most of his early career on loan at Sheffield Wednesday, before returning to the Reebok in 2005 where he made his Premier League debut against Everton in May of that year. The Republic of Ireland international would make his first start for club away at Lokomotiv Plovdiv in the first round of the 2005 UEFA Cup. Injury cut O'Brien's career in the North West short as he missed most of the 2006/07 and 2008/09 campaigns before being released in March 2011.

ON-LOAN

Striker Michael O'Halloran is currently on-loan at League One side Tranmere, and the Scotland Under-21 international scored his first senior goal for the Merseyside outfit against Portsmouth in a League One clash in December. The 22-year-old has also enjoyed loan spells with Sheffield United and Carlisle United.

DELIGHTED TO HELP DR HUNT CELEBRATE HIS 80TH BIRTHDAY

We recently received an email in respect of Dr G Denys Hunt who would be soon celebrating his 80th birthday, but not only that, he was also retiring from his day to day work helping the local people at West Parry Sound Health Centre in Ontario.

Here are some words from a letter acknowledging Dr Hunt's efforts from Terence Fargher MD, Chief of Staff and Donald Sanderson, Chief Executive Officer from West Parry Sound Health Centre.

'It is with mixed emotions that we share with you Dr. G. Denys Hunt's decision that he will put down his scalpel at the end of the month.

"His outstanding medical career spans a 43 year period and his skill and expertise has benefitted thousands of patients. His service in the operating room has been exemplary, his support for his colleagues has been strong and collegial and his concern and compassion for the community has been tireless.

"After training in Manchester and Edinburgh he was given his first surgical privileges at parry Sound District General Hospital in 1969 and has remained a steadfast member of the local medical community. On behalf of physicians, staff, trustees, patients and families, we thank Dr. Hunt for his skill and expertise."

Dr Hunt still thinks of Bolton as his hometown, even though he has lived in Parry since the 1960s and we were delighted to supply a Bolton Wanderers signed home shirt to a Bolton boy who has certainly done well in his chosen career.

We wish you all the best for your retirement although we have already heard that after spending Christmas back in Bolton he has returned to Parry and has been helping out in the Ambulatory Care unit at the West Parry Sound Health Centre. Keep up the good work.
